COLUMBIANA — The annual Christmas shopping tour for underprivileged children, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be held at 1 p. m. Saturday. John Heintzelman will serve as general chairman for the event.

Each child will be given $10 to spend for the purchase of gifts for his family and members of the family and will be conducted on a tour of Columbiana stores by members of a committee comprised of Dr. Dan Salchow, Bob Elder, Earl Corey, Sam Ferguson and Dale Mauch.

Following the shopping tour, the group will proceed to Grace United Church of Christ where wives of the Jaycees will serve refreshments and assist in wrapping the gifts. Santa will present each child a gift. The Jaycees are currently conducting a "lite for lite" project under the direction of Jim Gaston and the ways and means and service committees. The project features a grill light which turns on with the ignition and provides a greater degree of safety for driving. The lights may be purchased from any Jaycee.

Safety lights were recently donated and installed on the police cruiser, water works truck and street department vehicles by the Jaycees. The group urges that citizens take advantage of the added safety feature.

Christmas trees were donated recently at South Side and Joshua Dixon Elementary Schools. The Jaycees also decorated the tree at South Side.

Burton's Wife Gets Mexican Divorce; Actor To Wed Liz

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — The wife of actor Richard Burton was granted a Mexican divorce yesterday on charges that he abandoned his home and subjected her to cruel and inhuman treatment.

A friend of Burton said the divorce means the British actor will marry Elizabeth Taylor. In Beverly Hills, Calif., Eddie Fisher, estranged husband of Miss Taylor, exclaimed, "Marvelous! Bravo!" Then he broke into song.

Fisher said, "I will do anything to make Elizabeth happy. I wish her only the best."

The Burton divorce was confirmed by the mayor of Puerto Vallarta, a Pacific Coast resort where Burton and Miss Taylor have been staying during shooting of a movie in which Burton is a star.

Sources in Puerto Vallarta, about 425 miles northwest of Mexico City, said Burton and Miss Taylor plan to remain there through Christmas and probably January. Miss Taylor's children are with her.

Mayor Carlos Ariola Luna of Puerto Vallarta said Mrs. Burton received custody of the couple's two children, Kathryn, 6, and Jessica, 4. He also said she would receive an annual payment from Burton but he did not give the amount.

Mrs. Burton retained possession of the Burton home in Geneva, Switzerland.

FBI Agents Talk To Grand Jurors In Mahoning Probe

YOUNGSTOWN—Local gamblers who talked freely about their gambling activities to FBI agents investigating auto-bomb murders are "sweating out" the testimony of two agents who appeared before the Mahoning County grand jury investigating crime and bribery yesterday.

Many racketeers talked freely about their gambling activities to agents investigating the bomb deaths of Charles (Cadillac) Charlie Cavallaro and his son, Tommy, 11, Nov. 23, 1962. They knew if they had $50 gambling stamps they were violating no federal statutes. They did not suspect any of their information would be presented to the grand jury.

This is one of the first times in FBI history that agents have been permitted to give grand jury testimony in cases involving state laws instead of federal laws.

TAXES, TAXES, TAXES — State and local taxes averaged $223 for each person in the United States in 1962. This was an increase of more than 66 per cent since 1953. Taxes increased faster in Delaware than in any other state, rising 130 per cent since 1953. Smallest increase was in New Hampshire: 29 per cent. Data from National Industrial Conference Board.

Lawyers Trying To Secure Ruby's Release on Bond

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby's lawyers are trying to get the man who killed the accused assassin of President Kennedy out of jail before Christmas. The state insists he should be kept behind bars.

Dist. Judge Joe Brown ordered a Dec. 23 hearing on a defense request Monday for release of Ruby under bond. His trial on a charge of murder is set for Feb. 3 before the same jurist.

During this legal activity at the county courthouse, heavier-than-normal traffic continued outside the building past the point where a hidden rifleman ambushed the President Nov. 22. It was two days later that Ruby shot Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin, in the City Hall basement.

A flag flies at half staff over a grassy parkway beside this spot in the edge of the business district. Fresh flowers appear there daily. Dozens of wreaths hang from a fence erected to support them.

Tom Howard of Dallas, one of the lawyers representing Ruby, applied for a writ of habeas corpus in the move to free the prisoner. The application contends that Ruby, 32, owner of a Dallas strip joint, is entitled to release under bond pending trial.

Howard also said the defense staff, headed by Melvin Belli of Los Angeles and San Francisco, wants Ruby to undergo psychiatric examination and this cannot be done properly in jail.

Dam Disaster Victims to Be Reimbursed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Victims of the Baldwin Hills Reservoir disaster got a word of encouragement — and a promise of money — from Mayor Samuel Yorty.

"It's obvious these victims are not responsible for the damage," Yorty said Monday. "They will be compensated and we will help them file claims against the department of water and power and the city," Yorty said.

Damage from Saturday's devastating flood could run to more than $10 million dollars, officials estimate.

Yorty's promise of help came as a residents and businessmen picked through the mud-slick rubble below the now-empty reservoir.

Nearly 300 million gallons of water roared through a break in the earth-filled structure Saturday afternoon, crashing down on the homes below and sweeping at least three persons to their death.

Sixty-four homes were destroyed, and 82 homes and 55 apartment buildings received major damage. At least 27 persons were injured.

Cleanup crews hauling away the mud and debris also watched for a possible fourth victim of the swirling flood waters.

Mrs. Marie MacDonald told rescuers her husband, Archie, 70, was snatched from their home by the torrent as she watched helplessly. She said she has been unable to locate him since.

Cleveland Council Bribe Accusation Will Be Probed

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cuyahoga County prosecutor said today he will ask the grand jury to investigate a charge that council president-elect James V. Stanton allegedly attempted to bribe another councilman in an effort to gain control of council.

Stanton, a Democrat who unseated longtime council president Jack Russell in a power struggle last month, said Monday he would confer with his attorney about a possible slander suit against councilman Michael Fatica.

Fatica, a freshman Democrat councilman and lawyer, charged that Stanton came to his home Nov. 25, showed him a brown envelope which contained what he understood was $1,000.

The offer, Fatica said, was in return for his vote in the Democrat caucus at which Russell lost the top council post in a 15-13 vote.

Stanton acknowledged the visit but said no money was offered. He termed Fatica's charge "a lie."

Santa and the Haunted House

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The children rode the crescent moon through the sky until a voice directed them to fall off into a passing cloud.

(Chapter 13)

THE TROUBLE CAKE

The cloud carried the children across half the world until it came finally to the Milky Way and gently dropped the children there.

The children found themselves sitting in a sea of stars that stretched in an unbroken path across the sky and down to the edge of the earth.

Miss Joe began to slide down the path. "It's slippery!" she cried. "Like a bamboo slide!" Jeremy and Sissy began to slide. Before they knew it, they were all three spinning down the Milky Way—faster, faster—on and on or thousands of miles. When the slide came to an end, the three children went right on falling until plop! plunk! plop! they landed, one after the other, in a soft white snowdrift that was piled against a little red house. The door of the house flew open and a plump whiskered fellow burst out, crying, "Whats this?"

THE CHILDREN KNEW with-out being told that they had reached Santa Land at last. They dug themselves out of the snowdrift and scrambled to Santa's side. Miss Jo threw her arms around his legs and cried, "Oh, Santa! Nog's going to kill you dead!"

Santa's mouth dropped open and he stared at her. Then he threw back his head and laughed. "Come inside. We'll have some cake and you can tell me all."

"CAKE?" cried Sissy. "Nog's cake?" asked Jeremy in alarm.

Santa shoed them through the door. "I don't know whose cake. It just arrived and it is a very pleasant surprise. I was just about to have a piece."

He pointed to a huge chocolate-covered cake on the table by the fire. The children looked at it. Their eyes popped wide and they all began to talk at once.

"It's Nog's cake! It's filled with Hate and Greed and Powdered Trouble. It's got rattlesnakes tongues in it and spider legs. Its—"

"WAIT, WAIT," said Santa smiling. "Suppose you tell me one at a time. Start at the beginning and tell it to the end."

He sat down and put Sissy on one knee and Miss Jo on the other. He nodded to Jeremy and said, "Now begin."

So Jeremy told how the children had gone to the Haunted House in the Kingdom of Poo and there they had seen the wicked Nog making a terrible cake for Santa because he hated Santa and Christmas and everything. If Santa ate the cake he would die and Nog would take over Santa Land.

While Jeremy talked, Santa's face grew very stern. When Jeremy finished, Santa got up and took a knife and cut right through the cake. It was a dark color with a white cream filling. It looked delicious but a juicy bit of icing fell on the plate and Santa picked it up and looked at it and saw it wasn't icing at all but a squashed caterpillar's eye.

SANTA WAS VERY upset. Nog had been put out of Fairyland, he said, because he was so wicked. But apparently he hadn't changed his ways so he—Santa—had better go and talk to Nog and see what could be done.

Santa put on his hat and scarf and said, "Come with me to Poo and we'll settle this right now."

"But," gasped Jeremy. "You can't go to Nog's house. It's 'Pshaw!'" said Santa.

"Pshaw!" said Santa. "I'm not afraid of Nog's haunts." "But—what will you do if he catches you?"

Santa took a purple stone from his pocket and held it out for all to see. "This is a charm from the Fairy Queen," he said. "It will save me, I think."

ELECTRICITY Bakes Cakes Better ... Because It's FLAMELESS

Cakes bake moist and tender in a flameless electric range because there are no hot drafts of constantly changing air. Meats, too, stay juicier, giving your family more of the valuable vitamins and mineral you pay for. And, of course, winter or summer your kitchen stays cooler because only a flameless electric range oven is insulated on all six sides to keep the heat in.

Surface cooking, too, is cooler because with a flameless electric range the heat goes directly into the bottom of the pan . . . doesn't billow up around the sides. And only flameless electric heat is clean as electric light so pans stay clean . . . curtains and walls stay cleaner far longer. Buy an electric range and you'll get these and many more of the extra advantages you get only with flameless electric cooking.

Making a Federal Case of It

Secretary of State Rusk, Secretary of Defense McNamara and Secretary of Treasury Dillon are off to Paris to attend a foreign ministers meeting of the Atlantic Alliances.

All of us wish them well. Their chief job is to smooth over rough edges in the relationship between the United States and France. As our spokesmen, they have a grave responsibility.

We could wish that the instructions they have been issued by President Johnson, now tackling the unfamiliar assignment of foreign relations, might cause them to move in a new direction.

INSTEAD of asking other members of the Atlantic Alliance to do thus and so for their own good, which is what the United States has been doing since the end of World War II, Americans would feel better if their spokesmen told the members of the alliance the United States would consider proposals for future assistance, nothing more.

We would be more comfortable in our minds if our government quit trying to impose its will on other governments in matters like German unification.

We could look one another and our international neighbors in the eye with better grace if Secretaries Rusk, McNamara and Dillon would let it be known in smoothly phrased diplomatic gobbledegook that Uncle Sam has made a New Year's resolution in advance:

"RESOLVED, that from this point forward it will be U.S. policy to consider proposals for strengthening the Atlantic Alliance but will initiate no proposals of its own, because it is bone-weary of putting itself in a position to be repudiated and short-shrifted. Whatever other members of the Atlantic Alliance may want to do, they are invited to ask the United States if it wants to go along with the doing thereof perhaps taking NO for an answer and has sworn off the frustrating practice of doing the proposing while its associated do the rejecting."

And so saying, our Cabinet threesome would wish all and sundry a Merry Christmas and come home from Paris, having given away nothing, not even an iota of self-respect.

A Three-Some to Paris

Why can't government enterprise cut down employment with a sharp knife like private enterprise?

What keeps the federal payroll from being pruned like private payrolls?

Because government enterprise and the federal payroll—any public payroll—must yield to political pressure if the pressure is strong enough.

Defense Secretary McNamara announces a cutback on military installations, and within hours political pressure was turned on full force.

Ohio Sen. Lausche summed it up in his protest to the Defense Department. It's not the idea of saving money, he explained—everybody is in favor of saving money. It's the idea that the money might be saved at the expense of Ohioans presently employed at the one military installation affected in Ohio. Erie Depot at Port Clinton. Sen. Lausche says he wants to be able to demonstrate to his constituents they are getting as fair a break on the federal payroll as residents of Pennsylvania, California, Georgia, West Virginia, Massachusetts, Texas, and other states.

That's the story.

If the federal government spends one money one place it must spend money another place. It cannot pull out of one place unless it pulls out of another place.

It must gear its spending to political expediency, not to efficiency. And that amounts to saying it never can stop what it has started without incurring a charge of discrimination.

Private enterprise can't stop what it has started without feeling pressure, either. Its employees don't like to be separated from payrolls any better than public employees. Railroaders fight to save jobs that aren't useful to their employers. Suits are instituted to force employers to continue operations that are inefficient. But only when government is involved does a payroll become untouchable.

The federal people made a federal case of it—and there goes economy, almost every time. Good luck, Secretary McNamara. Good luck, President Johnson.

Personal Matter

By Truman Twill

I suppose we should thank the Associated Press for its survey showing that public school officials across the country have not clamped down on Christmas.

But if the idea was to reveal something about the way public schools had interpreted the U.S. Supreme Court ruling against compulsory prayer relative to Christmas, gratitude will have to be diluted with astonishment.

The Associated Press, which has access to everything the Supreme Court ever said about official prayers, knows better than to lend its prestige to a hoax that some of the courts implacable critics have been playing on the nation.

With malice aforethought, these critics have fed the gullible the line that the Supreme Court had ruled against religion. They knew that along with the gullible, who believe anything, they could count on the paranoiacs, who are afraid of everything. They were right. A terrible misrepresentation has been loosed against the Supreme Court.

THE FACT remains that the U.S. Supreme Court has said nothing against religion or the free exercise of religion.

It has declared only that Americans are entitled to do as they please in matters of religion and therefore it is contrary to the Constitution to let public officials tell children what prayers to recite.

So what about Christmas? Isn't Christmas a religious observance?

It is for those who think of it that way.

It also is an occasion for a great international outpouring of good will and winter solstice joyfulness that goes on year in and year out independently of any religious doctrine.

Christmas is celebrated by non Christians in the United States and many other countries.

The thought does not come easily to minds not prepared for it, but the winter solstice was a celebration long before there was Christianity.

THERE NEVER has been any trouble about Christmas in public schools. It has been one of those rare situations that offered happiness to everybody.

No other occasion in the year brings gladness to more people in more places than Christmas, whether it's the United States, Japan, Russia, Britain, Ireland, or Mexico. Different peoples would have trouble explaining to one another what their reasons for celebration are, but they could get together on the effect.

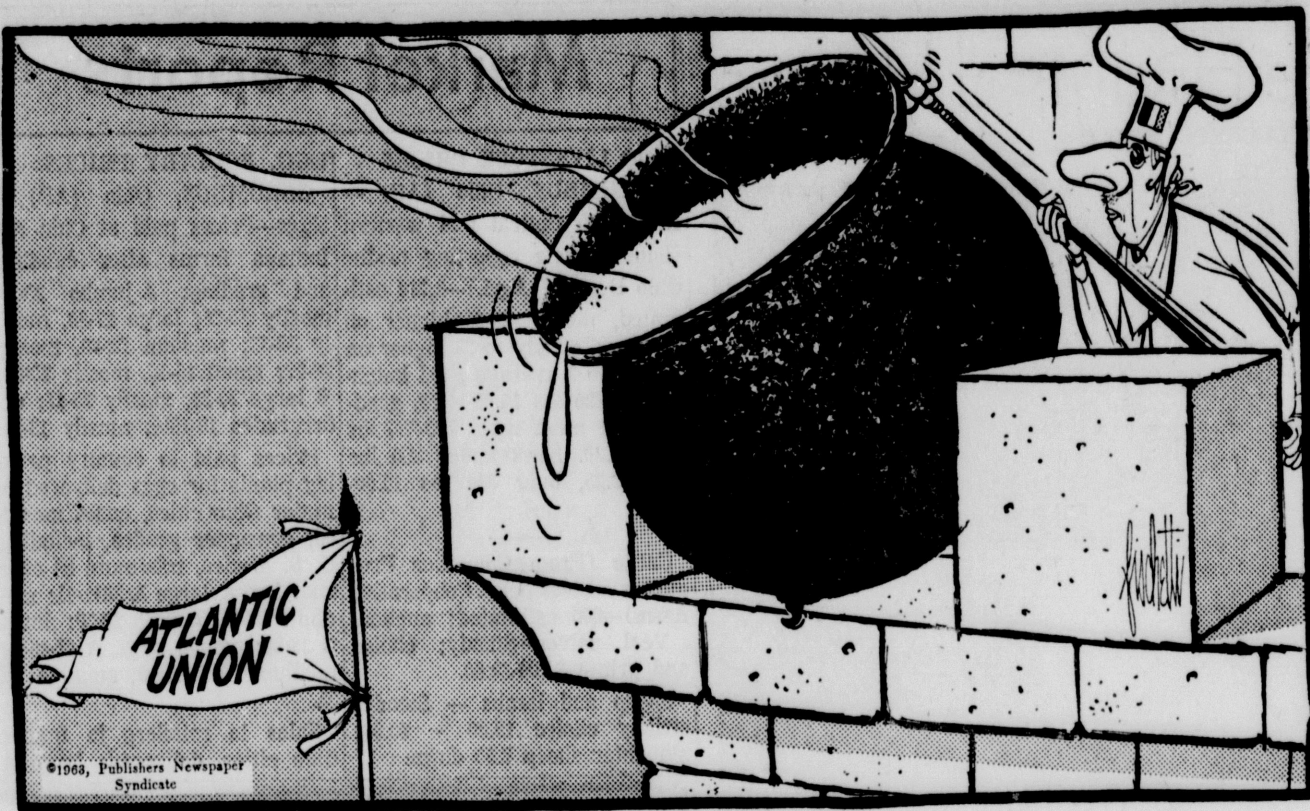

It makes them feel happier.

The U.S. Supreme Court said nothing about Christmas.

Of course it is being allowed to go on as usual in public schools.

It should be set straight in every American mind that the Supreme Court said public authority in this country has no right to tell anyone, including kids in school, what prayer to say. Praying, the court has ruled, is a personal matter.

So is Christmas. It belongs to all of us.

Specialty of the House

Castro Unmasked

By VICTOR RIESEL

This crisis in Bolivia, including the kidnaping of two of my personal friends, Thomas Martin and Bernard Rifkin, was planned and financed in Cuba.

The conspiracy has the support of the Havana commission of "Chi-coms" — Chinese Communists. Its objectives were to seize Bolivia and declare it a socialist state in the image of Castro's Cuba — then to kill Americans, seize property, crush the Catholic church, demobilize the national army and replace it with Juan Lechin's Indian "peoples' militia" and make La Paz the Western Hemisphere base of a China-Cuba-Bolivia axis.

This latest effort to outflank the United States actually began almost three years ago. The pro-Castro Communist forces planned to seize power early in June, 1961. But the government under President Victor Paz Estenssoro, moved quickly by arresting some 70 Communist labor leaders in the first week of June, '61.

The Communist leaders then, as today, were and are miners' union chiefs. Irineo Pimentel and Federico Escobar. They were among those arrested at that time and again in recent days.

AT THAT TIME, the government seemed to every rational and sensible statesman, economist and politician in Europe, were the advantages of enlarging the Common Market to include Britain one year ago. Only Gen. de Gaulle said no.

As this Brussels crisis moves to a climax, therefore, it's essential to try to sort out the reason which Gen. de Gaulle might have for doing to the Common Market itself exactly what he did to the British one year ago.

Leave aside the exact form his action might take—whether he simply withdraws France from further activity in the market, whether he declares the Rome Treaty to be a dead letter because nobody is living up to it, whether he "suspends" French activity in the market pending an agricultural agreement.

THAT SIDE of the crisis is a matter of legalistics and tactics, and whatever de Gaulle does it will have the dual aim of protecting French interests and French advantages which have been derived from the Common Market while at the same time bringing the operations of the Market to a halt.

What then might be de Gaulle's reasons for this ruthless and rigid insistence on agreement by the end of the year on agricultural policy, or else a new and unknown situation?

First and fundamentally lies the fact that de Gaulle is not by any stretch of the imagination a "Common Market enthusiast." He inherited the Common Market from the Fourth Republic.

He regards all supra-national institutions as infringing on the sovereignty and freedom of action of France (which indeed they do), and he has no philosophical sympathy for the Monnet, or Federalist European, concept.

de Gaulle, in other words, has none of the ideological, philosophical, or Treaty of Rome which its authors cherish.

loss of over $16 million annually. It was decided to lay off 2,000 men and transport them to such fertile areas as the Santa Cruz valley. There they could have land. But permission was needed from the Comibol, Bolivia's state mining corporation.

There is labor representation on that board. That representation is controlled by the pro-Communists. The labor man had veto power over Comibol decisions. He vetoed its plans to end the featherbedding.

Then came plans for a new series of strikes. A general stoppage was to be triggered by a miners' walkout. All this maneuvering and planning took some two years, during which the originally arrested labor men, including Pimentel and Escobar, were freed.

When I was in South America this July, I was told by positively unimpeachable sources that the Bolivian government learned that some $100,000 had been smuggled in from Cuba to finance a general strike.

THERE ALSO WERE underground shipments of arms for the peoples' militia. The Communists, aided by their patron, Fidel Castro, launched the "triggering" tin mine strike in the Catavi district on July first.

It triggered the general tin mining industry strike six weeks later on August 15. The government stood like the proverbial Gibraltar. President Paz ordered the arrest of some leaders, including the avowed Communists, Pimentel and Escobar. The strike lasted exactly 13 days. But the rumblings went on and on, and the other day the Communists kidnapped the four Americans.

The one man who could have stopped all this violent action and anti-U.S. operation was the debonair, demagogic peoples' hero of the soccer fields and habitue of big city night spots — Juan Lechin.

He always has been the powerful leader of the combination of Communists, Castros, leftists and gun-happy miners' militiamen.

But the U.S. gave him quite an assist a few years back. He had just become Bolivia's vice president when he decided to visit this country. A high State Department official, despite private warnings and intelligence reports, gave an official luncheon in his honor.

Among those invited were AFL-CIO President George Meany and Serafino Romualdi — whom I believe to be not only the most effective anti-Communist crusader on the Latin front, but also the best informed.

Mr. Romualdi now directs a joint labor-management Latin-American training school called the American Institute for Free Labor Development.

He and Meany refused to attend the Lechin luncheon. Everybody knew why. Everybody knew well in advance. Yet the U.S. honored one of its most bitter enemies and helped built his prestige.

Now he is calling for revolution against our friends.

Common Market Showdown

By DON COOK

PARIS In these closing weeks of 1963, there is a growing and somewhat grim parallel in Europe to the closing weeks of 1962.

A vital negotiation is underway in Brussels. It is coming up to a showdown and a deadline. One year ago, under similar circumstances nobody could envisage that President de Gaulle would invoke a single-handed veto against British entry into the European Common Market. Today the issue involves the existence of the market itself.

There is, perhaps, less of a sense of indifference of impossibility in assessing what the French president might or might not do, but nevertheless there remains a feeling—particularly, it seems, on the part of the Germans—that this is more of a war of nerves than a genuine crisis and that the advantages of France continuing in the Common Market outweigh the disadvantages of France taking actions in Brussels in the next two or three weeks tantamount to a break-up or a demise of the market.

NOTHING COULD be farther from the truth. In the narrow sense it seems incomprehensible that a Dec. 31 deadline on the success or failure of a negotiation should be sacrosanct or decisive, after two or three years somewhat desultory discussion of a problem—in this case a common agricultural policy for the Common Market. But the fixing of deadlines and the those deadlines stick and mean something is part of the art of power and diplomacy.

The question is not so much the deadline but the determination behind it—like having an atomic bomb ready in the Cuban crisis.

Admittedly, the advantages to France and to French diplomacy of leadership of the Common Market are great—far greater than the reaction which France will reap if the Common Market dies in Brussels early in the new year. But so, it seemed to every rational and sensible statesman, economist and politician in Europe, were the advantages of enlarging the Common Market to include Britain one year ago. Only Gen. de Gaulle said no.

As this Brussels crisis moves to a climax, therefore, it's essential to try to sort out the reason which Gen. de Gaulle might have for doing to the Common Market itself exactly what he did to the British one year ago.

Leave aside the exact form his action might take—whether he simply withdraws France from further activity in the market, whether he declares the Rome Treaty to be a dead letter because nobody is living up to it, whether he "suspends" French activity in the market pending an agricultural agreement.

THAT SIDE of the crisis is a matter of legalistics and tactics, and whatever de Gaulle does it will have the dual aim of protecting French interests and French advantages which have been derived from the Common Market while at the same time bringing the operations of the Market to a halt.

What then might be de Gaulle's reasons for this ruthless and rigid insistence on agreement by the end of the year on agricultural policy, or else a new and unknown situation?

First and fundamentally lies the fact that de Gaulle is not by any stretch of the imagination a "Common Market enthusiast." He inherited the Common Market from the Fourth Republic.

He regards all supra-national institutions as infringing on the sovereignty and freedom of action of France (which indeed they do), and he has no philosophical sympathy for the Monnet, or Federalist European, concept.

de Gaulle, in other words, has none of the ideological, philosophical, or Treaty of Rome which its authors cherish.

When he came to power in 1958, he took a cold look and decided to move forward with the Common Market for only one reason: France stood to gain economically and politically out of it.

TODAY, FRANCE has gained all it can on the industrial side out of the Common Market, and de Gaulle's only further interest is the gains he can achieve for his farmers.

"What would the very words 'European Economic Community' mean if Europe did not for the most part assure its food supplies from its own agricultural sources, which are amply sufficient?" he asked rhetorically at his last press conference.

"And what would France do in a system in which there soon no longer would be any customs tariffs except for its wheat, its meat, its milk, its wine and its fruit?"

Nor do the French have any enthusiasm for the Kennedy round of tariff negotiations on an international scale at Geneva, scheduled for May. Nor does de Gaulle believe the Common Market to be an essential foundation to the political future of Europe.

In short, de Gaulle wants what he can get out of the Common Market for the French farmers, and if he cannot get what he wants, then he couldn't care less about the Rome Treaty or the ideological enthusiasm which brought it into being.

He is ready and capable of dropping his own particular atomic explosion over the European Economic Community. And that is why the situation in Brussels in the next three weeks is so strenuously serious.

Ann Landers Answers

Dear Ann Landers: Something has been troubling us girls in the office. We decided to ask you to explain the mystery. A certain woman who works with us is in her late 20s. She is highly intelligent, well-read, has a lovely face and stands about 5 feet, 10 — in her stocking feet.

Three months ago she began dating a homely little dried-up runt who is at least 6 inches shorter than she is. He is a successful professional man, neat and pleasant but they make such an odd-looking couple we can't understand how she could have accepted the first date with him. The guy looks like something that should be dangling from her charm bracelet.

When they are together she stands erect, in her high heels, and seems almost proud to be seen with him. What is wrong with her? Is she blind to reality? What can she be thinking? — FLOOR 6 INQUIRY.

Dear Floor 6: She probably is thinking that he is a lonely human being with a fascinating mind and an engaging personality and that he is infinitely better company than some of the gorgeous guys who are tall, handsome and boring.

A Bark With Bite

Dear Ann: Someone asked you recently if your teeth were your own. I know good and well they are because of the unsympathetic way you answer people who have denture problems.

Its easy for you to sit there in Chicago with your own teeth and tell a woman in Texarkana that her husband is a stubborn mule because he refuses to go to the dentist and spend another $300 on a third set of chop-pers. O

I've gone through the whole bit and its murder. I lost 15 pounds while a certain dentist monkeyed around trying to get my teeth to fit. Finally I got disgusted, threw them in the ash can and went to another dentist.

I told him he could make me a new set of teeth and I would pay IF they fit. He agreed, and let me tell you those teeth were absolutely perfect from the minute he put them into my mouth.

Please tell people, Ann, that this is the way to get teeth that fit. Thank you. — SMILING CLYDE.

Dear Clyde: My dental experts tell me that most new teeth need a minor adjustment here and there and that darned few dentists will guarantee a perfect fit from the very first chomp.

Im glad you had such wonderful luck, however. Thank you for biting — I mean writing.

Hiring Trouble

Dear Ann: The man I'm going with was divorced two years ago. Ward's wife was a real swinger and he sued for divorce after he walked in on her and the building superintendent. Ward was given custody of their three children with no trouble.

He does not pay her alimony and she has been supporting herself.

We plan to be married in about three months. Ward has a housekeeper who is sort of half-baked but she manages somehow to keep things going. I should tell you that I own a business and definitely am not the type who could stay at home.

Ward suggested last night that it might be a good idea to hire his ex-wife as our housekeeper. He said she would love it, and it would be very good for the kids.

At first I was sure he was crazy, but after he pointed out all the advantages it didn't sound so bad. What do you think? — MAZIE.

Dear Mazie: I think he IS crazy — and if you agree to this arrangement ou deserve whatever happens. I can promise you it won't be anything good.

Trumbull Makes Lease-Lend Pact

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Trumbull County has become the first of Ohio's counties to try turning its operations over to a private authority through a lease arrangement.

The county commissioners approved, 2 to 1, Monday the formation of a nonprofit corporation to finance and build a $2.6 million courthouse and jail.

The county has a 50 per cent matching grant of $1.3 million from the federal government for the project. However, to keep the grant the county must come up with a definite plan for financing its share within two months.

Commissioner Roy A. Stillwagon said the county cannot meet its share from general revenue tax money.

"The county is now faced with an almost $2 million relief deficit," he said, "and we should do something about that before adding to our general fund worries."

Commissioners Joseph Baldine and Robert E. Hagen voted for creating a nonprofit corporation to issue bonds and erect the courthouse and jail. The corporation would enter into a lease - purchase arrangement whom the building would be turned over in 20 years. Stillwagon voted against the proposal.

The Cleveland law firm of was hired to work with the Lynn B. Griffith in setting up the corporation.

Hints From

Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: Over the years when making carrot curls I have used toothpicks to hold the curls in shape while they stand in ice water until ready to use.

Perhaps you will agree with me that my new method is far faster, easier, and eliminates the use of toothpicks, which sometimes prove difficult to remove after crisping.

I simply shape thinly sliced carrots (which I have cut with my potato peeler) into curls and fasten them with ordinary scalded paper clips! These paper clips come off as easily as they were put on. They form no rust while emersed in the water and can be used over and over again.

MRS. ADAM BATHGATE. Oh, gals, try it. It's wonderful and so easy and quick. Make lots of them to put on that parsley you are going to trim your Christmas turkey with.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: After I had a professional window cleaning company come in and clean my windows, I found that I can save money every six months by making a mixture of two cups of warm water and one ounce of glycerine, dipping a rag in this, wringing it out thoroughly and rubbing it over the panes.

I use this method both on the outside and inside of the windows.

The windows may be polished with either a cloth or cleaning tissue or... a crumpled up newspaper, as you say.

The glycerine not only prevents the steam from forming inside the windows but when the rain hits the outside of the window I find that it does not leave marks and streaks.

If you will remember that dust adheres to the outside window pane and when the rain hits it, this is what causes our streaks and dirty marks. The glycerine helps the raindrops slide off easily and they take along with them... the soil and dust!

APARTMENT OWNER.

DEAR HELOISE: I had a rubber-backed rug mat that has struck to my floor. Can you or any of your readers tell me how to get the rubber marks off the floor?

MRS. Mc.

Anyone know? If so, drop your answer to Heloise. Letters do not have to be signed to appear and all suggestions are welcome and appreciated.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I removed mildew from a soiled tablecloth by pouring some hydrogen peroxide on it. The mildew disappeared and did not hurt the cloth or the color.

M. H.

Ladies, pretest a spot to be sure your cloth is color-fast. If your cloth is not color-fast, the hydrogen peroxide may remove the design.

HELOISE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: I have an inexpensive burglar alarm for women who don't have small children to play with it: A cow bell! Mine cost 85 cents.

This is the kind of bell people use to make noise at football games, but it also suffices elsewhere. If you have to be alone at night keep it under the head of your bed.

S. H.

DEAR HELOISE: Hang those pillowcases by the sewn end (not the stitched hem) to get the longest wear.

The hemmed end gets more strain after the pillowcases are put on the pillows and if they are hung by the same corners, too... it makes sense that those points will wear out first!

IDA TYSON.

Leo the Derelict

12 Phoenix Girls Adopt Abandoned Lion

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Leo is a derelict.

He's getting bald and his teeth are cracked.

Leo still has a little of the old fire—he growls and paces up and down in mock anger—but to be honest he's not much when it comes to lions.

Nonetheless, 12 Phoenix girls —8 to 13 years old—are determined to get Leo a chance to start life anew as a real, scary African lion.

Leo was abandoned near Phoenix last year. His owner left him cramped in a small cage without food or water.

The owner never was found. So the mangy old lion became a ward of the Phoenix Zoo.

He's spent his time far back in the holding compound because there isn't a fancy outdoor enclosure for him. All the enclosures, built with funds donated by individuals and firms, were occupied.

The zoo decided to sell Leo. He was taking up space, and he sure wasn't earning his three pounds of horsemeat a day.

The 12 little misses promptly set up a howl. They insisted they would collect the money—$16,000—to get Leo his enclosure.

Zoo officials surrendered after warning the girls of the task they faced.

Laela Bell, 12, was unperturbed.

"Who ever heard of a zoo without a lion?" she said.

And Jacque Webster, 11, said, "I'm just awfully afraid Leo feels nobody cares a thing about him."

Jean Ann Bell, 9, admitted, "I've never seen a real, live lion and it's about time I did."

The girls formed a club to help Leo.

First they staged a backyard circus. Total collections—$19.35.

"It was a beginning," said Alava Bell, 13.

Next came an art show. Working from school-out until dark for days, they set up a gallery in 9-year-old Shelly Springman's back yard. Paintings, needlework and ceramics were displayed on picnic tables.

It cost 25 cents to make the tour. The art was for sale, too. One young artist tagged this note to her painting:

"For sale—50 cents. $1 if you have it."

The show netted $153.02.

The girls are still at it—this time selling homemade novelties.

"And just think," said 12-year-old Tina Ayers, "we just need $15,827.63."

Washingtonville Village

Arfman To Seek

County Judgeship

A number of Democratic candidates for Columbiana county offices are circulating nomination petitions, among them Atty. Herbert Arfman of Salem, who will be a candidate for common pleas judge.

Mr. Arfman at present is presiding judge at the eastern county court at East Palestine.

Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp of Salem, a Republican, is expected to announce soon for another term.

John Ursu of Salem will be a Democratic candidate for county engineer. He lost to County Engineer Charles O. Snyder in the election two years ago.

Other Democrats circulating petitions to qualify for the May primary are:

Vincent Judge for county treasurer; Carl L. Stacy for clerk of courts; Dr. William Kolozsi for coroner; Frank Wilson, Lew Sowards and Max Gard for county commissioner; Atty. Jack Kuhlman, Columbiana village solicitor, for county prosecutor, and Edward Mallory for sheriff.

Mine

Into the side of a mountain near this central Utah community.

"They never knew what hit them," said James Diamanti, mine co-owner. They felt right where they were working. They must have hit a pocket of gas."

State Industrial Commission officials at the scene theorized the blast was caused by either coal dust or methane gas.

It was the second major mine disaster in Utah this year. Eighteen men were killed Aug. 27 in a potash mine explosion at Moab, about 100 miles south of Helper.

Jesus Nunez, 45, was near the entrance to the west shaft, about 2,000 feet from the explosion.

The blast hurled him 200 feet, broke his arm and cut him badly.

"I know I was lucky," he said.

Nine men were working in the east shaft and said they didn't hear the explosion.

"We've been told that the mine was a model mine in the west," Diamanti said. "Every safety precaution was taken. There hasn't been a trace of gas in the area for many, many months. I just can't explain it."

Diamanti said the nine victims were drilling at the face of the west shaft and theorized a drill bit may have exposed and ignited a pocket of methane.

Explosives were not being used.

schools without poles must display their flags by hanging them out of windows. "and it's pretty difficult to display a flag at half-mast hanging it from a window", Smith declared.

Board member Bryce Kendall suggested that other parent-teacher organizations or other Salem groups may welcome an opportunity to provide poles for those schools lacking them.

Women Protest Transportation

A two-woman delegation from the Damascus Rd. appeared to ask the board and the superintendent for aid in ironing out bus transportation problems.

The women charged that school buses do not always come on the scheduled time as set up by child accounting officer Dean Phillips.

They said that the bus driver, after passing the houses earlier than scheduled, does not pick up children who cross the road to board the van on its return trip. One mother also asked if the board could "do something about" the time children are picked up, maintaining that 7:15 a.m. is too early an hour for children, and causes a 15-minute wait for the children at the school.

The superintendent referred the women to Phillips who handles transportation problems.

Stand on Reading Books

Smith reiterated his stand on the supply of reading books for ungraded classes. "The books are distributed one to each pupil at his reading level," he said. "In keeping with the policy of operation of the ungraded program, these books are distributed to teachers upon their proof that the child is or children are ready to move to the next level. Emphasis is on smaller instructional groups for individualization of instruction rather than on class size groups for convenience."

Smith pointed out the success of the ungraded plan and said he would like to see it extended to the eighth grade. "Ungraded", he says, means a change in the structure of school organization and has nothing to do with a student's marks, the superintendent explained.

He said that the school prepares additional material to reinforce individual work of the pupil in the ungraded program. "We like to encourage independent work in reading and other subjects," he added.

More Art Needed

Smith commented on a letter sent to the board by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roberts, 1194 E. 9th St., asking that more emphasis be placed on art and other cultural and scholastic pursuits. He said the school system needs to consider an extra art teacher but for the moment must "look out for the teachers we have now."

The Roberts felt that sports in Salem were overemphasized to the detriment of culture and scholarship, advocating a banquet to honor top scholars as well as sports stars.

The board adjourned open pending a final report from the county auditor.

GET SERVICE PHYSICALS

LISBON — Twenty-nine men left this morning for Cleveland for pre-induction physicals, according to Mrs. Elaine Griffith, clerk of the county draft board. This concludes the call for inductions and pre-inductions physicals for December, Mrs. Griffith said.

Directors of First National Bank voted to pay on Thursday an extra Christmas dividend of 20 cents per share on their new stock. Shares were split 5 for 1 in July and the extra dividend now is equivalent to $1.00 on the old stock.

In June, 1963, the regular annual dividend rate on the bank's old shares was increased to $.60 from $.40 and a semi-annual dividend of $.30 was paid. Since the stock split in July, semi-annual payment of the regular dividend will be 60 cents and is to be paid Dec. 27.

Total dividends paid in 1963 will be $1.40 on the new shares. This is the equivalent of $7 on the old shares, an increase of 16 2/3 per cent over the $.60 paid last year.

L. H. Colley, president, said the decision by the directors was in line with the continued growth of the bank. First National Bank, which celebrated its 100th anniversary this year, is the oldest National bank in Salem, the 16th oldest in the United States and the fourth oldest in Ohio.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Be Sure That Toys Are Safe

Dr. Brandstadt

Millions of children are about to hit the toy jackpot. Toys are not merely a source of amusement, they are a vital part of your child's mental and emotional growth. Although he may get a large number of toys on Christmas day, he needs toys the year around. It is important that they be suited to his ability. If after being shown their purpose once he can't operate them by himself, they are too complicated for his present development and should be withdrawn from circulation until he is ready for them. Another source of Christmas frustration is getting so many toys all at once that he doesn't know what to do with them.

THE WISE MOTHER will readily recognize which toys have an instant appeal and will quietly put the others away to be trotted out one at a time in the ensuing weeks. Since small children have to taste everything they can reach, they should not have access to marbles, beads, jacks and the like. Swallowing such objects may be very painful but an even greater hazard is that they may be sucked into the windpipe. For older children air rifles, bows and arrows, pocket knives, and chemical sets may be with wet hands. Cords should be inspected from time to time to make sure they have not become frayed, exposing the wires. All toys should be stored in a safe place when not in use to prevent serious falls as well as to teach a sense of responsibility and neatness. Q—After my 3-year-old daughter has been asleep for about an hour she cries and screams for a while. We get her to quiet down and go to sleep again. Can we prevent these spells? A—Nightmares are usually caused by bodily discomfort of some sort. An overloaded stomach, stopped up nasal passages, or fullness of the bladder are frequent causes. The aroused child is usually unable to describe the dreams that frightened him but more often than not will go to sleep again without any trouble after being comforted. If the child has a feeling of insecurity, the nightmares may continue until a better adjustment to his surroundings is accomplished. Make the evening meal the lightest of her day and see that the hour before she is put to bed is not overly exciting or stimulating. Listening to soothing music or to a pleasant story before bed is a time-honored way to encourage peaceful sleep.

Massillon Comes To Salem For Big 8 Clash Friday

Tigers' Unit Has Veterans

4 of 5 Starters Played Football

Most coaches in the Ohio Big 8 Basketball Conference are willing to concede Canton McKinley's great team as this year's loop champion, but are quick to point out that Massillon is a dark horse.

The Tigers, with a veteran squad, are coming to Salem for the annual league clash with the Red and Black at Senior High School Friday night.

Four of Coach Nick Vrotsos' starting five were members of the Tigers football squad.

"MASSILLON is one of the toughest teams we will face this season," said coach John Cabas just prior to a Salem practice session Monday.

"They have tremendous speed and are especially tough under the boards," declared Cabas.

The Salem cage boss plans to give the Quakers a lot of work against a press during drills this week. Massillon may have as tough a press as the Red and Black will come up against this campaign.

SENIORS FLOYD PIERCE, 6-0; Ed Buchanan, 6-3; Bill Blunt, 5-10; and Will Perry, 6-1; and junior John Muhlbach, 6-0; are probable starters for the Tigers.

Pierce is the leading scorer on the squad with 84 points. Buchanan is next with 70. Muhlbach is hitting 85 per cent from the foul line.

Massillon opened the season with an 83-63 victory over Wooster, then dropped a 39-38 thriller to Canton Lincoln. Since then the Tigers have beaten Canton 60-43 and Warren Harding 79-64.

Other players who should see considerable action for Massillon are seniors Bob McAllister and Tom Gatsken.

IT HAS TAKEN 12 years for a Salem team to lose its first two games in a row. During that same season, 1952-53, Cabas' unit lost three straight before chalking up its initial win, then went on to have a 4-15 year.

Cabas doesn't plan to make any changes in his starting lineup Friday. George Begalla, Dennis Everhart, Dean Keller, Rick Gregg and Wayne Washington have drawn the opening assignments again.

The Quakers have been beaten by Columbus East 88-62 and Parma Valley Forge 62-54 so far.

Redskins Rehire Bill McPeak As General Manager, Grid Boss

By W. B. RAGSDALE Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Bill McPeak moved ahead with plans for 1964 today with a vote of confidence from his bosses and more authority than any Washington Redskin coach in history.

McPeak was rehired Monday as coach and general manager of the National Football League team with authority to spend any amount he thinks necessary for player talent and to make any changes he sees fit to build a winner.

It was a far cry from the old days when president George Preston Marshall kept a tight rein on his coaches, even occasionally calling plays over the telephone connected from his box to the Redskin bench.

Often, the colorful, controversial Marshall fired coaches with better records than the 3-11 McPeak's Redskins finished with Sunday.

In 27 seasons since he brought the team here from Boston, Marshall has had 11 coaches.

Marshall, now in his late 60s, has mellowed somewhat as he got older. The headline grabbing feuds with other national figures grew less frequent. And it was Marshall who named McPeak general manager in 1962 and handed the 37-year-old former All-Pro defensive end broad authority in dealing for playing talent.

Marshall is a sick man now, so sick that three of his old friends, Redskin directors C. Leo DeOrsey, Edward Bennett Williams and Milton King, asked a court last week to name them to handle his affairs.

Their petition said Marshall was unable to conduct his affairs properly because he is suffering from cerebral arteriosclerosis and other ailments.

It was DeOrsey, the vice president who is voting Marshall's 51 per cent of Redskin stock, who made the announcement Monday after a three-hour session with McPeak and three other directors, Williams, King and Jack Kent Cooke, Los Angeles sportsman.

Although the Redskins lost on the field, they had their best year in history this past season in attendance, up 50 per cent over 1961 to 303,638 for seven home games.

DeOrsey said McPeak was given a 25 per cent raise in pay, but didn't mention any figures. The mandate given McPeak included an expansion of the talent scouting program he created almost from scratch in 1961. Washington had fallen far behind other NFL teams in this respect, and as a result had become a chronic loser.

Penguins To Battle Steubenville

Unbeaten Youngstown In Finals Of Geneva Cage Event

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tonight's final round of the second annual Geneva (Pa.) Invitational Basketball Tournament could be a repeat of last year's championship game, as defending champion Steubenville faces unbeaten Youngstown, which also challenged Steubenville for top honors in the inaugural event.

Youngstown outclassed Geneva, 80-47, Monday night as five Penguin players hit in double figures. Youngstown led all the way in handling Geneva its fifth straight defeat.

Steubenville edged Alliance (a.) 65-60 to move up to the championship round. Alliance was held scoreless for the first minutes of play.

In another Monday night activity on Ohio's cage card, Miami's Redskins defeated De-pauw, 79-68, behind Jeff Gehring's 27 points and Charley Coles' 16. At one point, Miami held an 18-point lead.

Xavier walloped Villa Madonna 102-66 to break a two-game losing streak. Xavier led the outclassed Rebels from the start. At halftime, Xavier had a 42-25 lead, and every Musketeer got to play during the second period. Steven Thomas scored 42 points for a career high.

Duquesne snapped a three-game losing streak with a 101-81 victory over Baldwin-Wallace. The Dukes' attack was led by Willie Somers, who had 33 points, and Willie Ross, with 30.

In other games, West Virginia State defeated Wilberforce, 95-75, and Rio Grande rolled over Salem, 94-71.

Wants Time To Work Out Contract Details

Parseghian Doesn't Accept Notre Dame Football Position

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — The door may remain open at Notre Dame for Ara Parseghian to enter as head football coach.

But if it is closed, who did it — Notre Dame or Parseghian? The strangest episode in coaching has taken place.

The Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, Notre Dame executive vice president, announced Saturday that Northwestern's Parseghian has become the new coach of the Fighting Irish, succeeding Hugh Devore, who was elevated to assistant athletic director.

A news conference Monday for official signings of a four-year contract never materialized.

After a delay of more than two hours, Parseghian appeared from a meeting with Father Joyce. The usual voluble, dynamic 40-year-old coach appeared distraught and shaken.

In a written statement, he said that a story Saturday in the South Bend Tribune naming him as the new Notre Dame coach touched off his decision to agree to the job.

But, he said, the story was premature and came when he did not fully worked out. Therefore, he wanted a few more days to have it resolved.

With that, and no more elaboration, he left by car for his home near Northwestern University, where he has served as coach for eight years.

All this amounted to a walk-out on final negotiations with Father Joyce, who remained firmly noncommittal on their meeting.

Parseghian returned home, went to his bedroom and refused to be disturbed.

With neither side clarifying the matter, speculation was rife. Father Joyce had a brisk "no comment" when asked if, Parseghian had:

ally of becoming athletic director.

2. Wanted complete freedom to name his assistants and their salaries, including a hefty pay check for his No. 1 lieutenant, Alex Agase, if Agase were not chosen as his successor at Northwestern.

3. Wanted an unhampered hand in recruiting with the aid of more than the 30 to 35 athletic scholarships Notre Dame now has available.

Father Joyce, asked point-blank if Parseghian would be the next Notre Dame coach, said "At this time I really can't say."

Meanwhile, Northwestern's athletic director, Stu Holcomb, said that Parseghian never had resigned officially and still had one more year to go on a five year contract.

Loyola Still Number 1 In AP Survey; OSU, 3 Others Drop From Top List

By The Associated Press
Loyola of Chicago had to go to overtime to beat Detroit and just managed to down Western Michigan by three points last week. That failed, however, to dim the admiration of the experts who once again voted the Ramblers the nation's No. 1 college basketball team by a wide margin.

Most of the other teams in last week's Top Ten weren't quite as fortunate in The Associated Press' weekly poll. Four teams — Arizona State, Ohio State, Oregon State and Kansas — fell out altogether.

NYU dropped from second to seventh and Duke slipped from third to fifth.

Big gains were made by Kentucky, which jumped from fifth to the runner-up spot; Michigan, which rose from seventh to third and Cincinnati, which advanced from sixth to fourth.

Newcomers to the Top Ten were UCLA, ranked sixth; Vanderbilt eighth, Toledo ninth and Davidson 10th.

Loyola, which is averaging over 100 points per game in four straight victories, received 34 of the 43 first-place votes by a panel of sports writers and sportscasters to finish on top with 417 points.

The only other quintets to receive first - place votes were Kentucky with five, Michigan three and Toledo two.

Kentucky, now 5-0, was impressive with triumphs of 100-80 over North Carolina and 101-65 over Baylor. Michigan matched Kentucky's record with 80-70 and 104-81 victories over Butler and Western Michigan.

Cincinnati, in its only game last week, beat Wisconsin 65-50 to boost its mark to 3-1. Duke lost to Vanderbilt 97-92 in overtime, then beat Clemson 75-72. The Blue Devils' record is 4-1. NYU lost to Toledo 87-74 at Madison Square Garden and just managed to beat little Fairleigh Dickinson 67-58 for a 4-1 record.

UCLA, Toledo and Davidson all are unbeaten. UCLA won its fourth straight, downing Kansas 74-54. Toledo's surprising triumph over NYU boosted its mark to 6-0. Davidson climbed to 5-0 knocking off Ohio State 95-73.

Only two members of the Top Ten saw action Monday night, and both won. Chicago Loyola outclassed South Dakota 112-68 and Duke defeated South Carolina 77-70. The balloting is based on results through last Saturday.

1. Loyola Chicago	417
2. Kentucky	328
3. Michigan	287
4. Cincinnati	201
5. Duke	171
6. UCLA	150
7. NYU	138

Navy's Staubach Adds AP Award To Growing List Of Grid Honors

NEW YORK (AP) — Honors continue to pile up for Roger Staubach.

Navy's All-America quarterback and Heisman Award winner who attained nationwide respect for individual prominence in gridiron skills, in character and dramatic appeal, was voted the outstanding college backfield performer of 1963 in a poll conducted by The Associated Press.

The slender, handsome, quiet-spoken field general from Cincinnati was an overwhelming choice, receiving 57 of the 107 votes cast by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters from every section of the country.

Nineteen other backfield stars attracted attention with Billy Lothridge, Georgia Tech's "Mr. Everything," topping the also-rans with 11 votes. Baylor quarterback Don Trull, the nation's leader in passing, was third with eight votes.

Sherman Lewis, the pint-sized Michigan State halfback who had five runs of 80 or more yards this past season, was next with six votes. Jimmy Sidle, Auburn's great runner and the nation's second leading rusher, ad four votes. He was followed by Mel Renfro, Oregon's triple threat, and Terry Isaacson, the star quarterback of the Air Force Academy. Each had three votes.

To votes each went to Gayle Sayers of Kansas, the nation's third leading rusher and George Bork of Northern Illinois State, the top college passer, big and little. Bork had a fantastic record that included 244 completions in 374 attempts.

Staubach, in his junior year, smashed all Navy passing and scoring records. He piled up 1,890 yards in total offense while piloting the second ranked Mid-dies to a 9-1 record and an invitation to a Cotton Bowl clash with unbeaten and top-ranked Texas. Jolly Roger's 67.3 passing percentage topped the nation.

Lothridge, the Engineer's versatile quarterback, set a college record of 12 field goals and was one of the nation's leading scorers. The 6-foot-1-inch, 187-pound senior's value to his team was inestimable. He ran, passed, punted, kicked field goals and extra points and kicked off.

Trull re-wrote the NCAA record book. His national marks included 167 pass completions, 2,157 total offense yards and 406 total plays.

Lafayette Loses To Columbia 75-68; Loyola Romps

Day Charged With 6th Foul Before Being Disqualified In Cage Action

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The collegians are sinking baskets so quickly, the official scorers are having trouble keeping count.

Now along comes Lou Day, and presents still another problem.

Day, who plays for Lafayette, has quick hands. They only scored two points in a 75-68 loss to Columbia Monday night, but they set some sort of record for fouls. Before the official scorer caught up with Day he had six persons—one more than the limit.

Day got the extra foul—and was charged with it—before the official scorer could signal Day's disqualification for his fifth foul.

They're still checking the record books on that one.

The record books, meanwhile, are doing a slide-rule business in the scoring department with top-ranked Loyola of Chicago leading an assault in which major college teams are scoring over 100 points with startling rapidity. Seven went over Monday night.

Loyola brought its record to 5-0 — they've hit 100 points or more four times—with a 112-68 wallowing of South Dakota. Four starters accounted for 99 points. Ron Miller hitting for 31, Les Hunter 27, Vic Rouse 21 and John Egan 20.

In other 100-pointers, Memphis State's Bob Neumann scored 33 points in a 108-75 trouncing of Alabama, Charlie Shaffer scored 32 as North Carolina overwhelmed Tulane 109-81, Dick VanArsdale collected 28 in Indiana's 110-92 triumph over Detroit, Willie Somerset hit for 33 in Duquesne's 101-81 victory over Baldwin-Wallace, St. Louis crushed Lamar Tech 113-63 and George Washington whipped The Citadel 102-81.

The only Top Ten in action besides Loyola, fifth-ranked Duke, not only didn't hit 100, but ran into considerable difficulty before subduing stubborn South Carolina 77-70.

In other struggles, Creighton edged Iowa 77-72 in overtime, Rice topped Georgia Tech 84-79 in overtime, Wichita defeated Texas 76-57, Bradley nipped Min-

Attendance At Tracks Increased Over 1962

$4 Billion Bet On Horse Racing By 54 Million Persons In 1963

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Nearly $4 billion was bet on legalized horse races by 54,373,336 persons during 1963, both yearly record totals, on annual survey by The Associated Press showed today.

The total amount wagered on the thoroughbreds and trotters and pacers in the United States was $3,807,082,319 compared to $3,616,867,500 in 1962. The attendance was up 3,435,013 from the 50,938,373 last year.

The breakdown from the 26 states which permit legalized wagering on the thoroughbreds showed 35,447,849 bet $2,739,992, 286 compared to 34,280,991 and $2,88,126,541 in 1962.

Harness racing reached the $1 billion plateau for the first time with $1,067,090,033 bet by 18,925,537 in the 14 states where pari-mutuel wagering on the standardbreds is authorized.

The United States Trotting Association said this compared to $828,740,959 and 16,657,382 in 1962.

The various states received an estimated $304,624,086.09 in revenue. No official total is available for the flats, but an estimate placed it at $220,000,000 compared to $212,183,662 in 1962.

The USTA pin-pointed the states' revenue from the sulky set at $82,624,086 compared to $63,023,324 last year. The combined 1962 total was $275,206,986.

Aided by a February opening and a week's run in December for its longest season ever, New York state topped the list with a combined betting total of $1,235,404,012 by 15,376,989. The Empire State also derived the most revenue, $123,344,019.

Texas' Scott Appleton Picked Lineman Of Year In AP Poll

By JACK KEEVER

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A coach's decision and a teammate, says All-America Scott Appleton, are responsible for his being named Monday in an Associated Press poll as the outstanding college football lineman of 1963.

Gordon Roberts is the teammate, and like Appleton, is a senior tackle for Texas, the nation's top-ranked team. The decision Appleton referred to was made in mid-season and it placed the rugged 239-pound Appleton at middle guard as primarily a defensive specialist.

"It's on defense the lineman gets publicity and wins honors," said Appleton. "I also feel that I help the team more on defense."

"I never was real outstanding on offense."

His replacement at offensive tackle is Roberts, called "Yankee" by his teammates because he played high school football at West Lafayette, Ind.

"Gordon's a real fine blocker—better than I am—and his play helped me to concentrate pri-

Indians Sell Hurler Allen To Pirates

CLEVELAND (AP)—Lefty Bob Allen has become the second pitcher dealt away by the Cleveland Indians in the past month.

Allen, 26, who had been a reliever exclusively since joining the Tribe in 1961, was sold to the Pittsburgh Pirates on a conditional basis, the Indians announced Monday.

The Pirates have the first 30 days of the 1964 season to decide if they want to keep Allen. The purchase price was not disclosed.

Allen, who had an overall 5-5 record with Cleveland, won one and lost two last season. In 1963 he pitched 56 innings, waked 29, struck out 51 and finished with a 4.66 earned run average.

Barry Latman, a veteran right-hander, and first baseman Joe Adcock were traded by Cleveland to the Los Angeles Angels for outfielder Leon Wagner earlier.

Zahrndt's, Bankers Win City Cage Games

Ted Thorne led Zahrndt's with 15 points. Bob Marlan collected 15 markers for the losing Bud Shaffer crew.

Bob Carbaugh took scoring honors for First National Bank as he netted 36 points. Jim Meissner netted 15 markers for Old Dutch.

My brother Russell has some very nice Christmas trees down here beside the Coutry Store. You can buy your tree here or go up next door to my mother's place and get one. If you wish you can go out in the field and pick your own.

Each year they sell perhaps more trees than anyone else in this area. These trees are grown right here on the farm.

The price for most of them is $2.50.

NATO Countries Spat Like Family; Unite Against Foes

Al Simpson, a major in the U.S. Air Force Reserve, is on a tour of U.S. defense establishments in Europe. He will report by airmail for The Salem News what he sees.

By AL SIMPSON
Special Brush-Moore Writer
PARIS, France (By Airmail) — Is NATO (the North Atlantic Treaty Organization) coming apart at the seams or is it a tightly knit, cohesive force—a bastion of defense for the West? This is one of the international questions of concern to many Americans who contribute their tax dollars to NATO's support. Just outside this "magnifique" French capital city, at SHAPE (Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe), we were told today, "The alliance is a long way from being dead."

"If we have any military problems tomorrow we can take care of them," an American colonel assured us. "But there are political problems," he added.

IT IS the political problems, which override any existing military difficulties, which brought NATO under fire from critics on both sides of the Atlantic who believe NATO is on the way out.

But spokesmen for Supreme Headquarters here, seemingly quite sold on the worth and achievements of the organization, they are a part of, see it quite differently. They minimize the problems and stress the accomplishments.

The mission of SHAPE, which controls NATO's military forces in Europe, is two-fold: (1) To prevent war and (2) to defend.

The American colonel who, along with two United Kingdom majors, was briefing us explained that if SHAPE is forced to act on its second mission, it will feel it has failed in its first.

SHAPE's deterrent strategy is based on three vital elements — dramatically described as "The Sword," "The Shield" and "The Will."

The "Sword" forces are the long-range, heavy, strategic retaliatory units that have the capability to strike back immediately and decisively with devastating effect.

The "Shield" forces are those of land, sea and air which are deployed in forward NATO areas and are equipped with conventional and atomic weapons. They provide tangible evidence of SHAPE's readiness to defend every inch of its area of responsibility.

The third element, "The Will," is the determination of NATO peoples individually and collectively to maintain the strength of the "Sword" and "Shield" forces and to use them in the defense of the NATO nations. It finds expression in SHAPE's motto: "Vigilance Is the Price of Liberty."

SHAPE PERSONNEL describe the deterrent effect of NATO forces by referring to Hitler's technique of taking over a slice of a neighboring nation, presenting the world with an accomplished fact and then claiming he would go no further.

They contend such "nibbling" tactics, backed up by today's "atomic blackmail," are being prevented by NATO ground forces under SHAPE's command.

With the NATO forces in a state of readiness along the Iron Curtain, the enemy nation is forced to make the decision as to whether it wants to make the move which may lead to all-out war. It no longer can "nibble" in comparative safety.

One problem which SHAPE believes is reasonably well solved is that of the exposed flanks of its line of defense, namely the Norwegian-Russian border in the extreme north and the Turkish-Russian border in the extreme south.

THE SOLUTION, as conceived by military strategists here in SHAPE headquarters, was to create a mobile force which can be quickly air-lifted to either border.

Because it is made up of troops of several nations, the thinking is it is more of a deterrent against nibbling tactics than if only the troops of a single bordering nation stood in the aggressor's way.

In rebuttal to the claims that NATO is shaky, those who spoke to us today pointed to Cyprus, Suez and other trying moments which tested the organization of 15 nations.

The point they make is that NATO has seemed to flourish through a series of crises which tended to throw partner nations against one another.

THEY COMPARE NATO to a family of 15 children who black one another's eyes occasionally but close ranks and fight together if a stranger picks a fight.

All who have spoken to us seem supremely confident that, in the event of any future crisis, differences would quickly melt away and solidarity of action would be forthcoming.

Put in the language of the North Atlantic Treaty itself:

"They are determined to safeguard the freedom, common heritage and civilization of the peoples, founded on the principles of democracy, individual liberty and the rule of law."

Remember When?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Man makes his memories, and his memories make the man. The shorter the distance there is left to go, the more recollections there are of the journey already traveled.

You've been on quite a trip yourself if you can look back and remember when—

A girl could be 21 and unmarried and still not worry about being called a spinster.

Ballroom dancing was a rhythmic and graceful partnership—instead of the individual contortions of two people seized simultaneously with fits.

People never went on a vacation until they had saved up the money to pay for it.

What was inside a Christmas package was more important than the wrapping.

Half the small kids in America wanted to grow up and be street car motormen. Today most of them have never seen a trolley.

When a woman washed her hair, it took her the rest of the day—and the help of a strong sun—to dry it.

Greater love had no husband than he who helped lace up his stout wife in a whalebone corset.

The only time many people stayed up after midnight was on Dec. 31—and they yawned all the next day.

A saloon's reputation depended on the variety and quantity of its free lunch.

Anyone who discussed religion was expected at least to have read the Bible all the way through—and be able to cite chapter and verse.

If you gave a girl more than a $2 box of candy, it was tantamount to a proposal of marriage — else why would you spend all that money on her?

It was part of growing up to be given a $5 gold piece by a favorite uncle or aunt.

When you saw a boy with a crew cut, you knew his mother must have found bugs in his hair — and had taken the easy way of getting rid of them.

Everyone was sure progress would solve all of mankind's woes.
